

Amputation and Limb Loss

We specialise in claims following traumatic amputation and limb loss.

Our lawyers combine expert knowledge of personal injury law with an understanding of the issues surrounding traumatic amputation and loss of limb.

In complex cases, instructing us early is important. It can enable us to make a difference by obtaining interim payments to assist with private rehabilitation, re-housing, the purchase of equipment and the implementation of care and case management.

Although prosthetics are provided by the National Health Service, the law allows you to bring a claim for the most advanced prosthetics available privately, subject to the legal test of reasonableness.

We have been successfully involved in a number of high profile and groundbreaking claims in this area.

“Stewarts provides a fantastic service on all levels and has a flawless understanding of each case, particularly the client’s diagnosis and personal needs”
